

California Veterinary Medical Association's
Linda Markland Outstanding RVT of the Year Award (Non-Private Practice)

The CVMA recognizes the significant role of Registered Veterinary Technicians in non-private practice in the veterinary profession through the presentation of this award. Nominee shall possess outstanding professional ability including educational achievements, individual contributions, professional affiliations, and special experience that sets them apart from others.

Nomination criteria:

- Nominee must be a CVMA member (membership application may accompany this packet.)

Nominations must include the following:

- A completed nomination form.
- Letters of recommendation (one from the nominator, and up to three from co-workers, clients, allied health professionals) that includes an evaluation of the candidate's commitment to the profession and to a cooperative work environment.
- A personal narrative from the nominee (not to exceed 500 words) which details the nominee's:
 - Individual contributions to community, non-profit affiliations and involvement in animal-related activities or organizations, i.e. wildlife care, humane societies, etc.
 - Special achievements not covered above, particularly those that are above and beyond the candidate's job duties.
- A current CV of candidate that includes:
 - Experience, including time in the profession and level of responsibility
 - List of formal education and continuing education attended (including dates of attendance)
 - Degrees, specialties, and certificates
 - Professional association membership and involvement

Nominations will remain in effect for a period of three years.

All submitted material becomes the property of the CVMA and will not be returned.

Presentation of the award shall be made during CVMA's Installation and Awards Ceremony at the annual Pacific Veterinary Conference in June. The recipient will be recognized in the California Veterinarian magazine.

Nominations will be accepted September 15 through January 6, 2023.
Please submit the completed nomination petition and supporting materials to the CVMA office by January 6, 2023.
